Description

Fine chest or cabinet key, late 18th century. The bow is formed by two opposing C- shapes with a triangular base; the solid shank is baluster-turned halfway down, then transitions to a square section, ending in knob. Rectangular bit, featuring a slight Z-profile, displays a beautiful, large, open trefoil cutout. It is a rare key, though it shows signs of wear and past repairs. Nevertheless, it is an interesting piece due to its completely atypical design. French craftsmanship, likely Louis XVI period. Dimensions: 14 cm length; 4 cm bow diameter. Available for immediate purchase via credit card or PayPal. Eclectic -- We are not professional appraisers, but we have been in the trade for over 50 years.
