Description

An exceptional Vietnamese display cabinet dating from around 1900. This remarkable piece of Asian art features an extremely richly carved, openwork, and partially gilded design, depicting figures, plant motifs, and traditional symbols. The glass-covered upper section allows for the display of precious objects or collections. The contrast between the dark lacquer, the red highlights, and the gilding lends the piece a spectacular presence and great decorative quality. A rare piece intended for both collectors of Asian art and enthusiasts of distinctive antique furniture.
