Description

3-piece gilded bronze Rocaille LXV-style set with Paris porcelain plaques, decorated in the Napoleon III Romantic style. Dial with Roman numerals featuring winged Cupids with bows and arrows. The cartouche below the clock's dial features a painted and enameled scene of two young men seated on the grass exchanging a piece of fruit (a grape). This can be interpreted as a scene of budding love. The set--the clock and its two matching candlesticks--is marked by the jeweler-clockmakers MEYER and LEVY, 33 Boulevard St. Martin, Paris. The VINCENTI movement won a silver medal in 1855. It is incomplete with its suspension blade and pendulum, a chime with half-hour and hour strikes, and a winding key. It works but has not been serviced. The piece is in good
