Description

In this "Allegory of Madness," the little girl sitting on a diving board and watching the destruction of the Twin Towers in New-York must be reflecting on the alienation of humankind...This striking oil-on-canvas painting by artist Jean-Gabriel Mondié conveys a narrative and poetic power of great intensity. The composition depicts a solitary young girl, sitting on the edge of a diving board overlooking the void, solemnly watching the destruction of the Twin Towers in New York. Through this striking contrast between the innocence of childhood and the violence of historical tragedy, the artist invites us to reflect deeply on the fragility of the world and the alienation of humanity. Enhanced by a remarkable mastery of oil painting and a melancholic treatment of light, each viewing of
