

Rare Officer's Saber With A Twisted Hilt From The Late Reign Of Louis XVI, Featuring A Royalist En

760 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Metal

Description

A rare mounted officer's saber with a swiveling guard, dating from the late reign of Louis XVI, which likely belonged to a royalist officer who fought during the Counter-Revolutionary Wars. Based on the original decoration painted on the blade, imitating a gilded blue finish, the sword can be attributed. One side is inscribed with "vengeur" and the other with "des Louis." I deliberately chose to preserve this saber in its original condition, except for the removal of the old storage grease that surrounded the blade. Condition: Very good overall condition except for some paint chips. Blade length: 70.5 cm. Shipping costs: France: 30 EUR. Europe: 38 EUR.
