

Charcoal-grilled Egg, 18th-century Recipe By M. De Chavagniat, Wrought Iron

140 EUR

Signature : Art Populaire

Period : 18th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Wrought iron

Length : 81cm

Width : 5,5cm

Description

A long roasting fork for hearth kitchen, very finely forged, with a turned knob, a long shank that starts round and then becomes square in cross-section, bearing the name of its owner in a long engraving, remarkably calligraphed in capital letters: M.de Chavagnat-Reydellet. The shaft ends in an open-forged tip, forming two triangular prongs: a truly beautiful piece of work! I have the impression-- (though I may be mistaken), that the owner asked this talented blacksmith to delicately curve the tips of prongs in order to hold, present, or cook an egg on the embers--or even a potato, among other things. I tried it: the result is quite convincing--the egg sits securely, and the angle is excellent. Once the prongs are returned to their original alignment, the object once again becomes a magnificent hearth

Dealer

Eclecticnimes

Curiosity, Collection Cabinet objects,

Tel : +33665241111

Mobile : 06-65-24-11-11

Bellegarde 30127

fork, 81 cm long, superbly engraved and forged in the 18th century. Dimensions: 81 cm × 5.5 cm.
Weight: 300 g., *eclectic --We are not experts, but we've been in this business for over 50 years. Hassle-free refund if you're not satisfied.
SIRET: FR 24 430113233. Invoice and certificate included with every shipment.