Description

An elegant and spectacular large mirror made of carved and gilded wood, in the Louis XV style, dating from the late 19th century. It is distinguished by its richly carved openwork pediment, adorned with a central shell, volutes, foliage, and flowers, all finely carved, demonstrating remarkable craftsmanship. Its generous dimensions make it a true decorative statement piece, ideal above a fireplace, in an entryway, a living room, or a private mansion. Its original mirror, with a beautiful reflection, is framed by a beaded molding that highlights the elegance of the entire piece. The gilding has a pleasant antique patina, lending the mirror all its charm and authenticity.
