Description

Carved oak jam cabinet - 19th century
Charming solid oak jam cabinet that opens via a belt-style drawer and a molded door, revealing an interior fitted with two shelves, offering three storage spaces. This richly carved piece is typical of the Normandy region. This cabinet stands out for its elegant carved decoration featuring plant garlands, its scalloped crossbar adorned with a rosette, and its curved legs. The front features a beautiful light patina that highlights the oak's grain. The interiors are meticulously finished and varnished. Its impressive height is quite unusual.
