Description

Elegant perfume bottle "Le Baiser" produced by Lalique, crafted from molded, polished, and satin-finished crystal. Ovoid in shape, the bottle's body features two faces in profile facing each other in relief, delicately evoking a kiss. The figures are framed by finely sculpted roses, with certain details accented in gold. The bottle is set within a remarkable openwork mount of gilded metal, composed of long, intertwined, thorny stems that fully embrace its shape. This botanical motif, both naturalistic and exquisite, extends around the neck. The rounded, satin-finished crystal stopper is adorned on its upper part with a rose carved in relief. The bottle still contains a significant amount of its original fragrance, which is amber in color. Engraved signature "Lalique France" on the base, accompanied by its original
