Description

Sculpture depicting Don Quixote on horseback, cast in bronze with a brown patina and gilded bronze highlights. Cervantes's famous hero is depicted in a heroic charge, lance lowered and shield held forward, while his horse is rendered with a remarkable sense of movement and realism. The composition stands out for the finesse of its execution, combining a rich brown-black patina with gilded bronze details on the saddle, reins, and lance. The head, finely carved from ivory, provides a refined contrast, characteristic of high-quality works from the late 19th and early 20th centuries. The piece rests on an elegant rectangular onyx base, emphasizing the prestigious character of this sculpture. Materials: bronze with brown patina, gilded bronze, carved ivory, and
