Description

A rare Ciboure stoneware vase in the so-called "Jorraila" style. The term "Jorraila" refers to this particular technique, which emerged shortly after World War II. The process involves engraving a design into the stoneware, firing the piece once, then glazing the raised areas, and finally firing it a second time. Produced under the direction of Suzanne Fischer. Inscribed "Jorraila" and stamped "VE Ciboure." A rare and sought-after piece.
