"Still Life with Grapes, Peaches, and Plums", oil on canvas signed by Euphémie Muraton (1840-1914). In a harmonious blend of deep tones, the artist creates a scene of great delicacy in which a cluster of black grapes, a velvety peach, and a few yellow plums glow in the soft light emerging from a dark background. The refined execution, the quality of the modeling, and the subtle interplay of light and shadow attest to the talent of this French painter, renowned for her floral compositions and still lifes of great sensitivity. An elegant work, representative of late 19th-century French naturalist painting.
