

Dogon Bronze Artifact From Mali

750 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Etat d'usage

Material : Bronze

Description

A superb Dogon horse figurine, a prestigious or ritual object, crafted by blacksmiths using the lost-wax casting technique. It features a beautiful antique patina known as "excavation patina," 24 cm tall including its base, dating from the 19th century or earlier. In good overall condition--note that antique bronzes are of much higher quality than recent craftsmanship, which is often crude and features casting defects and errors! The brightness in the photos is due to the powerful lighting used to show the items as clearly as possible; the objects are darker in reality. From a very fine collection assembled by expatriates who lived in Africa in the 1950s and 1960s and later passed down through inheritance, and while this isn't always the case, these cultured individuals took the time to carefully select their pieces
