Description

A set of four Art Nouveau-era three-light table candelabra in gilded metal, comprising a pair with tiered arms adorned with flowers and foliage on sweeping stems, and a pair with curved, foliage-decorated arms resting on rounded bases. France. Art Nouveau period (circa 1900). H_14.5 cm Very good condition. During the Art Nouveau period, ornamental artists and glassmakers drew direct inspiration from the forms of nature to create organic, supple lines. Floral motifs and undulating plant stems came to feature on everyday objects, lending a fluid grace to small light fittings and table accessories. Our set of table candelabra, which forms part of our range of Art Nouveau-style lighting fixtures, captures the poetic essence of the botanical motifs of the turn of the 20th century, combining the
