Description

This Art Nouveau-era inkwell, dating from around 1880-1900, is in very good condition and includes its two original reservoirs. It is signed "A. Bossu." The chocolate-colored patina is perfectly preserved. Please note: one of the glass reservoirs was broken and has been re-glued; this has no impact on the item's condition. You really have to know about it to notice it (see the last two photos). Dimensions: 30.8 x 19.5 cm. Height: 21.5 cm. Shipped with invoice; fast, careful, and very secure delivery.
