Description

We are pleased to present this splendid oil painting on plywood, dating from the early 20th century. This magnificent work is signed at the bottom center: G. Ceragioli. The signature is attributed to the Italian painter Giorgio Ceragioli (Porto Santo Stefano, April 28, 1861 - Turin, December 11, 1947). This charming oval painting celebrates the Baroque and Rococo styles with a luminous and festive allegorical scene. Three nude children, artistically known as cherubs, play at the center of the scene. A rich variety of colorful flowers--roses, red poppies, and peonies--surrounds the children. On the left, a small classical temple is set within a natural landscape. Color dominates the painting: bright pastel hues with strong contrasts between the red of the flowers and the cloudy sky. The painting is
