Description

Decorative mirror in an 18th-century carved and gilded frame. The design is distinctly Rococo in character, featuring a soft, undulating outline and rich floral decoration. The original mirror panels that have been preserved lend the piece an authentic and noble character--with visible discoloration, occasional losses of silver plating, and a subtle "haze." Louis XV style, 18th century. Carved and gilded wood. Height: 83 cm, width: 66 cm. Condition: damaged, original, antique mirror panels showing a pronounced patina and natural wear on the silver plating. At the top left, a small area of loss on a decorative element.
