Description

An elegant bronze sculpture by the French sculptor Nicolas Lecornet, active between approximately 1880 and 1884, titled "Colin-Maillard". The work depicts a lively scene inspired by the game of blind man's bluff, rendered with great attention to movement, the expressiveness of the figures, and the details of their clothing. The bronze features a refined medal-colored patina with warm hues, which enhances the quality of the modeling. Signed on the base. Artist: Nicolas Lecornet Title: "Colin-Maillard" Period: 19th century, circa 1880-1884 Material: bronze Patina: variegated medal-like Height: 71 cm
