Description

Important bronze proof with brown patina , entitled "Pro Aris & Focis", representing the King of Gaul "Vercingetorix", by the sculptor Henri Fugere (1872-1944) . Pro Aris et Focis , literally translates "For our altars and our homes". Vercingetorix is the symbol of national resistance to the invader , the hero of absolute patriotism .Vercingetorix is standing in a victorious pose , his fixed gaze reflects his determination and bravery . He has prominent muscles , abundant hair , a drooping mustache and medieval-style shoes . He is armed with his famous sword , which he is taking out of its scabbard , the Gaul is ready to fight and win . The power and virility of Man are highlighted here . Signature of the sculptor "H.Fugère" in hollow , on the naturalistic terrace , richly chiseled

Fugere (1872-1944) Henri Fugere , is a famous French sculptor and medalist, born September 7, 1872 , in Saint-Mande . Son of the sculptor Leon Fugere , he began his apprenticeship at the School of Fine-Arts in Paris . He was taught by the sculptors Jules Cavalier , Louis-Ernest Barrias and Denys Puech . From 1893 , he exhibited regularly at the Salon of the Society of French Artists , of which he was finally elected Vice-President . In 1927 , he received an Honorable Mention. We find in Henri Fugere , many realistic representations of warriors , soldiers , historical figures , but also works on the theme of work . After the War of 1914-1918 , H. Fugère mainly turned to the Art Deco style, then in vogue at that time . He died in 1944 , in Paris .
