Description

A charming piece of craftsmanship--this cross-leg chest of drawers with a front carved with foliage motifs on the drawers, crafted entirely from beautiful light walnut and featuring lovely proportions-- This early 19th-century chest of drawers, spared by the passage of time, is sound and very well crafted, featuring three deep front drawers operated by chiseled bronze knobs and a rounded bottom drawer beneath the lovely veined top. The unusual ornamentation gives it a striking decorative presence, and its excellent condition is immediately apparent, with its flared sides, elegantly curved crossbars, and trilobed, flared front legs. In perfect condition with no signs of insect damage, this beautiful piece possesses all the decorative qualities of a small storage cabinet.
