

---

System Cane, With A Bamboo Sheath Revealing A Sword Blade Marked "solingen"

280 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Etat d'usage

| Description |
|-------------|
|-------------|

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| System caneBamboo sheath revealing a square blade markedSolingenSheath ferrule, likely silverHorn pommel with mother-of-pearl inlayLate 19th / early 20th centuryTotal length 88 cmBlade length 72.5 cm (cracks in the bamboo sheath and missing tip cap, somesigns of oxidation on the blade) - EUR280 -http://www.quai-favieres-antiquites.com/ |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

| Dealer |
|--------|
|--------|

|                                 |
|---------------------------------|
| Quai Favières Antiquités |
|---------------------------------|

Antiquaire généraliste

Tel : 04 70 05 43 37

Mobile : 06 88 71 45 46

6 Quai Favières

Montluçon 03100