Description

Set of eight solid mahogany chairs - Restoration Period
A beautiful set of eight Restoration-period dining chairs, crafted from solid mahogany, featuring an elegant, understated, and refined design. The rectangular backrests, with slightly scalloped upper edges, are accented by a fine row of decorative nails. The seats are generously padded and upholstered in mustard-yellow corduroy, lending a lovely warmth to the set. The turned front legs, fluted and adorned with rings, rest on tapered feet, while the slightly slanted rear legs contribute to the elegance of the silhouette. The striking presence of solid mahogany, its warm patina, and the perfect uniformity of this set of eight chairs make it a particularly appealing choice for a dining room with character. Period: Restoration, 19th
