Description

The Bastille, medallion painting of a castle featuring a lively scene with figures and a carriage from the 18th century
SDB25POR003 This medallion depicts the Bastille fortress; it is an 18th-century work. The painting shows period details such as a large carriage and several figures in period costume. It is an oil on panel, preserved in excellent condition. It was likely originally paired with a companion piece; during the siege--or even its destruction--this type of miniature under a domed glass cover was very popular, serving as an object of civic devotion during the Revolution. A fine, delicate, and precise work by a skilled artist; unsigned These precious historical artifacts were displayed in homes to demonstrate the citizens' support citizens' support for the reforms of the
