Description

The "Gui" service was created by Edmond Lachenal (1855-1948) and the K & G factory in Lunéville between 1900 and 1914, following an initiative by the Parisian magazine "Les Annales Politiques et Littéraires". This floral design, featuring a mistletoe branch in pastel shades of mauve, green, and white, was created using stencils and a spray gun that applied the colors separately. Each piece is therefore unique. In perfect condition; Art Nouveau period; diameter: 25.5 cm
