Description

A charming Impressionist painting from the 1930s, depicting a sun-drenched hay harvest scene in the Normandy countryside...The work is signed by Maurice Paris (1903-1969), an outstanding artist to whom the Bénézit art encyclopedia devotes an entire chapter and about whom information can be found online. He was a leading figure in post-Impressionist Normandy painting, who had established his studio in Avranches: the Avranches Museum of Art and History houses several of his paintings, notably views of the bay of Mont-Saint-Michel and rural landscapes of the Avranchin region... Note: he is exactly the kind of artist to collect "without breaking the bank," as the quality of his work is undeniable, making him a safe bet for any collection: the value of his paintings varies
