Description

A superb oil on canvas mounted on panel, from the 20th-century Art Deco period, depicting a lively river landscape with stone bridges, signed lower left by the artist Marie-Anne ICHANSON. The work stands out for its textured Post-Impressionist brushwork and its soft color palette (forest greens, stone tones, and azure highlights), capturing the peaceful and luminous atmosphere of the French countryside. It is presented in a beautiful period gilded wood frame with gadroons. 20th-century French school. A student of the famous Toulouse painter Jean-Paul Laurens, she moved to Paris and became a member of the prestigious Salon des Artistes Français, where she exhibited regularly during the interwar period. Her works demonstrate a great mastery of light and landscape composition. The artwork is in very good overall condition. The frame features a superb original golden patina. We also offer another work by the same artist. Shipping and Payment Terms Packaging: Ultra-secure shipping with triple protection (bubble wrap, reinforced cardboard).
