Description

This pair of French three-arm candelabra is made of chiseled and gilded bronze, typical of the late Restoration era or the early Louis-Philippe period (circa 1830-1840). Chiseled and gilded bronze, with alternating matte and glossy finishes (hand-burnished). Pyramidal or cylindrical shaft resting on a scalloped base, topped by a three-arm candelabra and a central finial. First third of the 19th century (circa 1815-1830), in the tradition of French bronze casters of the period.
