O'Callaghan: A. O'Callaghan (19th-20th centuries) was a painter active between the late 19th and early 20th centuries, whose biography remains largely unknown. His work, rare on the art market, consists mainly of landscapes and cityscapes, with a marked interest in the coasts of Brittany. An oil painting depicting Carantec Beach, signed and dated, attests to his time in Brittany and his fascination with the seascapes of northern Finistère. His style, figurative and luminous, follows in the tradition of early 20th-century landscape painting. Although his career remains difficult to document today, his works reveal an artist sensitive to the effects of light and the atmosphere of the sites he depicts,
