Description

This refined Belgian Art Deco bench, dating from the 1920s, is crafted from solid oak. Its clean lines and subtle decorative rhythm are characteristic of early 20th-century Belgian design. The backrest features three carved circular medallions, framed by slightly curved vertical supports, giving the piece a sculptural and architectural presence. The striped upholstered seat, in deep blue and gold tones with a studded trim, adds a touch of graphic elegance that complements the linear oak structure. Its proportions make it an ideal choice for an entryway, a hallway, or as a focal point in a living room. A charming vintage piece that brings Belgian craftsmanship, Art Deco clarity, and the warmth of oak to any tasteful interior.
