

Set Of Eight 19th-century Harpoons Or Foênes

1 700 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Wrought iron

Description

A rare 19th-century set of harpoons or "foênes." This set of eight "foênes," which cannot be separated, is mounted on a base; it has a very attractive patina and is highly decorative. Some models with multiple prongs are rare, while others with two prongs--used for catching eels--are more "common." These foênes are harpoons mounted on a wooden shaft and ending in several pointed and/or barbed prongs; some are used for spearfishing, while others are used for shore fishing.
