Description

A rare silver-plated bronze bowl dating from the 19th century, notable for the finesse of its engraving and the richness of its decoration. With its dynamic shape, it is adorned with rocaille motifs, foliage, and garlands finely chased, characteristic of the decorative style of the period. The ends are adorned with two putti in the round, lending elegance and dynamism to the composition. The body of the bowl is enhanced by a central medallion and delicately worked relief decorations. The piece rests on four curved feet, lending it balance and harmony. With its refinement, the quality of its decoration, and its antique character, this bowl is a remarkable decorative piece, ideal for a classic interior, an art collection, or a cabinet of curiosities. Dimensions: Height: 28 cm Width: 35
