Description

A pair of mahogany armchairs, dating from the 19th century, featuring elegant, flowing lines in the Louis-Philippe style. The oval medallion-shaped backs are highlighted by generous molding and punctuated with elements carved in relief. The sinuous armrests, topped with cuffs, extend into gracefully curved supports with scrollwork. The wide, comfortable seats rest on curved legs, with the front legs ending in small antique casters. The armchairs are upholstered in a red fabric featuring a design of golden scrolls and foliage, secured by a row of brass tacks. A decorative pair with generous proportions, featuring a beautiful, warm wood patina. Period: 19th century Style: Louis-Philippe Material: Mahogany Upholstery: Fabric with a scroll pattern Condition: Good overall
