Description

This French Art Deco mirror from around 1925 captures the refined glamour and sculptural elegance that define the period. Its carved oak wooden frame, finished in a warm gilded tone, combines stylized floral motifs with the geometric restraint characteristic of early Art Deco design. The oval form feels both architectural and decorative, giving the piece a graceful presence on the wall.

The mirror's proportions make it a versatile statement piece, equally striking above a console, in a hallway, or as a focal point in a living space. The subtle aging of the frame adds depth and authenticity, while the clean reflective surface brings light and clarity to the room. It is a mirror that bridges eras: the decorative richness of the
