3 500 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Painted wood

Description

Rare 19th-century magician's table with a mechanism, in the Louis XV style. Crafted from carved and painted wood, this table features removable legs and a lightweight wooden top with a marble-effect finish, indicating that it was used by a traveling magician. As is often the case with these objects made by traveling artists, the paint was regularly refreshed, and although the current paint is old, it is likely not the original. The screw thread on one of the legs is broken. 108 x 65 cm, 79 cm high
