Description

A Barocchetto-style mirror, crafted from carved and gilded wood, dating from the early 20th century in Italy. The design features a beveled mirror framed by richly carved molding with interlocking leaf motifs and volutes, further embellished with architectural elements, leaves, and flowers. The exterior carvings display an elegant series of volutes that lend depth and movement to the piece. Although it has some missing parts, the piece retains its original charm. Ideal for spaces seeking to incorporate historically inspired elements with strong visual impact. Product condition: This item requires restoration due to its age and wear.
