Description

This Empire-style chest of drawers in walnut, from the Veneto region and dating to the early 19th century, exemplifies the elegance of the period with its refined design. The front features three drawers, the first of which protrudes, creating an interesting interplay of volumes. The truncated pyramid-shaped half-columns supporting the structure feature sphinx carvings with gilded details, lending a touch of regal grandeur to the piece. The plinth-style legs echo the truncated pyramid shape, ensuring stability and sturdiness. The interior is made of fir, a lightweight yet durable material, while the flush-mounted vents are missing, leaving room for customization. Product condition: Due to its age and wear, this item requires restoration and refinishing. We strive to present the actual
