Description

A late 19th-century carpenter's workbench from Italy, crafted from beech and fir stained to resemble walnut. The supporting structure of the tabletop has been skillfully modified to enhance the table's functionality, while preserving the integrity and charm of the original design. The carefully treated wood lends a warm tone that complements a variety of interior styles, while the solid construction attests to the craftsmanship of the era. Ideal for those seeking a piece of furniture that combines functionality and history. Product Condition: Due to its age and wear, this product requires restoration and refinishing. We strive to present the actual condition of the piece as fully as possible through the photos. If certain details are not clear from the photos, the information provided in the
