Description

This Belgian Art Deco mirror from the 1920s embodies the refined geometry and warmth of materials characteristic of that era. Crafted from solid oak, its circular frame features subtle carved details and a slightly distressed finish that highlights the wood's natural grain. Its sleek, rounded silhouette reflects Art Deco's evolution toward simplified forms and balanced proportions. Compact and sculptural, this mirror is a versatile decorative piece. It fits perfectly in an entryway, above a console table, or as part of a carefully curated wall arrangement, where its warm oak hue and understated ornamentation add depth and texture to the space. This piece bears the hallmark of the understated elegance of Belgian craftsmanship, offering a harmonious blend of modernist clarity and artisanal
