Description

Léo Amaury - Lioness and Gazelle, terracotta sculpture, Art Deco period
DescriptionA beautiful patinated terracotta animal group depicting a lioness alongside her prey, a gazelle. This expressive composition realistically captures the power of the feline: taut musculature, powerfully sculpted legs, and a gaze fixed on her prey. The beautiful warm-brown patina perfectly highlights the details of the sculpture. The piece rests on a rectangular terracotta base, set upon a veined marble pedestal. Work signed "Léo Amaury" in intaglio on the base. Léo Amaury, born in 1885, is known for his animal sculptures, created primarily in bronze and terracotta. A French work from the first half of the 20th century, circa 1930, from the Art Deco period. In good overall condition. A few slight marks and irregularities
