Description

A charming coffee set for two, known as a "tête-à-tête," made of Parisian porcelain, consisting of two oval-shaped cups--each with a handle adorned with a lion's mask--and their matching saucers. They are decorated with medallions featuring landscapes, set within gold frames, standing out against a speckled Lapis blue background. Each cup is a unique work of art, featuring its own distinct landscape. Beautiful matte and glossy gilding. Work in the Empire style, created during the Restoration, around 1830. These are large cups, which for modern use are suitable for a "long coffee." A beautiful, refined object for everyday enjoyment. The set is in excellent condition, with superb colors and very well-preserved gilding; no damage. Cup height: 9.5 cm Cup diameter: 7.1 cm Saucer
