Description

Watercolour "Seated Nude" by Frans Smeers This watercolor on paper depicts a nude female model seated in an intimate and warm setting. The composition skillfully combines the cool pastel tones of the body with the warm color accents of the flowers in the vase in the background. This magnificent work by Frans Smeers (1873-1960) is an excellent example of his freer, luminist style. Smeers was renowned for his ability to capture light and atmosphere using quick, precise brushstrokes, which shines through beautifully in this watercolor. A minimalist aluminum frame and an off-white linen mat allow the artwork to breathe; the glass has a slight imperfection in the upper right corner. Signed in the lower left corner. Canvas: 52 cm wide and 69 cm high. Frame: 73 cm wide, 2.5 cm deep, and 91 cm high. Belgian
