Description

A very beautiful and significant piece of decorative architectural ceramics, likely intended to be mounted on a wall, a facade, a gate, a monumental interior, or possibly a fireplace surround. Its design features very deep relief, intended to be viewed from the front, with a rocaille cartouche surrounding a lion--either a heraldic lion or a trophy--a motif associated with prestigious architecture. It has a glossy enamel glaze imitating bronze or patinated metal. A piece of this type may have been created for a private mansion, a castle, a public building, a city, etc. In excellent condition; has been restored; very sturdy. Dimensions: H 96 cm x W 54 cm x D 25 cm
