Description

Pair of Pantonova armchairs designed by Verner Panton in the 1970s. The frame is made of chrome-plated steel wire forming a series of curved lines, a hallmark of this iconic series by Verner Panton. The armchairs have retained their original cushions and upholstery, covered in green fabric. The foam has softened naturally due to its age, without detracting from the overall aesthetic of the armchairs. A restoration may be considered depending on the level of comfort desired by their future owner. The frame is in very good condition, with only a few slight, localized signs of oxidation that are barely visible and consistent with the piece's age. Dimensions per armchair: Height: 80 cm Width: 75 cm Depth: 80 cm
