Description

Victor Saglier SilverwareA beautiful pair of three-branched candelabras in silver-plated metal, dating from the early 20th century, around 1925, and reflecting the Art Deco style. The tapered, beveled shaft rests on a circular base with a slight overhang, decorated with fine, fan-shaped engraved lines. The arms, curved in symmetrical volutes, meet at a central knot adorned with a stylized floral/rocaille motif and terminate in candle holders with fluted rims. Formerly electrified, in good presentable condition hallmarks visible under the base (a cartouche with stars and a second diamond-shaped hallmark) from the Victor Saglier silversmithy.
