Description

Made of silver-plated metal, chiseled with stylized ribbed and gadrooned patterns, typical of the modernist revival and the elegance of the interwar period. The handles and knobs are made of precious wood--either rosewood or Macassar ebony--to better insulate against heat. It includes: Teapot: H: 19.5 cm, L: 26 cm, W: 13 cm; 2 slight dents on either side; handle previously restored. Coffee pot: H: 24 cm, L: 26 cm, W: 13 cm; distortion at the base; 2 tiny visible pitting marks. Sugar bowl: H: 16.5 cm, L: 17 cm, W: 10 cm; slight deformation at the base. Three tiny wear marks are visible. Tray: 61 x 37.5 cm, H: 3 cm, shows signs of use. Each piece is signed on the reverse "Pomone". Good overall condition. Period: 1925. In 1923, L'Atelier Pomone was founded by Le Bon Marché to offer its clientele high-quality furniture and decorative objects. The collection is designed to be refined and consistently contemporary. Initially led by Paul Follot, the atelier sought to enhance elegant interiors using the time-honored expertise of master craftsmen and artisans. His successors, René Prou and Albert Guénot, carried on this legacy. In 2024, more than a century after its founding, Le Bon Marché Rive Gauche revived L'Atelier Pomone with a tableware collection showcasing remarkable craftsmanship. Conceived as an ode to French craftsmanship, this collection brings enchantment to everyday life and today's dining table. A collection that bridges heritage and modernity.
