An elegant rectangular serving tray in silver-plated metal, featuring a simple and harmonious silhouette with generously rounded corners. The two side handles, finely engraved with Louis XV-inspired scrollwork, ensure a secure grip. The quality of craftsmanship, the brilliant polish of the silver-plated metal, and the balanced proportions make this piece both practical and decorative. In very good overall condition; there are fine scratches from use in the center of the tray, which are normal given its use. There are also signs of tarnish around the edge of the tray on the front and back. The silver plating retains a beautiful luster. Unhallmarked French piece from the mid-20th century.
