Description

After Antoine-Louis Barye, a proof with a bune patina of the Seated Dog (Greyhound?). Both the sculpture and the patina are in excellent condition; the signature "BARYE" is visible on the base (no foundry mark, but the cast is likely from the late 19th century--weighing 1.3 kg and standing 17 cm tall). Antoine-Louis Barye (1796-1875) was a French sculptor and painter, famous for his animal sculptures, which are characterized by remarkable realism and expressiveness. He is considered one of the greatest masters of 19th-century animal sculpture.
