Description

This spectacular Italian lamp from the 1970s embodies all the boldness and sensuality of Space Age design. Its deep red glass column rises from a patinated metal base, creating a slender and decidedly sculptural silhouette. The upper section is crowned by a striking orange glass shade, composed of stacked volumes with generous, rounded shapes. Inside, four bulbs cast a warm glow through the glass, revealing subtle plays of transparency and giving the lamp a particularly enveloping presence when lit. The contrast between the intense red of the base, the luminous orange of the diffuser, and the metallic details is characteristic of 1970s Italian aesthetics, where a functional object becomes a true decorative piece. With its graphic proportions, vibrant colors, and glasswork, this lamp is as much a light
