Description

This exquisite Art Deco chryselephantine figurine captures the essence of 1920s fashion, a time when Asian-inspired silk pajamas were all the rage among European high society. The young woman's silhouette and her elegant pajamas are masterfully rendered in patinated and gilded bronze, while her head is finely carved from natural ivory. The dark marble base bears the artist's original signature. The sculpture is preserved in exceptional original condition, close to perfection, and possesses great artistic and collectible value.
