Description

Oil on canvas. The work is accompanied by a certificate of authenticity based on a photograph by the scholar Angelo Dragone, who also notes that he has published it in his catalog Lorenzo Delleani, l'opera e il suo tempo, Vol. II, p. 105, no. 21. From a private collection in Turin, the work was offered at the Sant'Agostino auction in Turin (with a reserve price of EUR5,000). Delleani, who initially painted mainly historical subjects, gradually turned to "en plein air" landscape painting, focusing especially on the places of his origins: the Piedmontese valleys. He later also painted various figures, especially ordinary people, while his nudes are rarer, although scenes of bathers--at the lake or on the beach--featuring several nude female figures are a recurring theme, as seen in the pose of the figure
